COMMON CHORDS III, THE NEXT GENERATION
A Celebration of Jewish and Muslim Music
Wednesday, March 25 • 7:30 P.M.

Salman Ahmad, Muslim rock star and peace ambassador, founder of Junoon, “South Asia’s answer to Santana,” and renowned Indian tabla player Samir Chatterjee will join Yale Strom, world’s leading ethnographer/klezmer artist and his band Hot Pstromi for a unique production celebrating the common roots of Muslim and Jewish music. The concert will feature original works exploring tolerance, diversity and the ties that bind. These compositions are created and performed by the award winning stars of tomorrow. Yale Strom is an Artist-in-Residence at the SDSU Jewish Studies Program.

Co-presented by the Jewish Studies Program at San Diego State University
